

Professionally engineered solutions for flow metering

Metering Specialists

SGC design engineers specialise in tailoring metering solutions to meet the requirements of the client and the installation.

Our independence allows us to design liquid and gas metering solutions, which are best for the project. We use maintainable and cost effective components to optimise system accuracy and performance.

Project Engineering

We produce professionally engineered metering panel assemblies incorporating innovative design and production processes.

SGC solutions include:

- Flowcomputers
- PLCs
- Metering Supervisory Computers
- Control Panels
